"The United States Code is the official codification of the general and permanent laws of the United States of America. The Code was first published in 1926, and a new edition of the code has been published every six years since 1934. The 2012 edition of the Code incorporates laws enacted through the One Hundred Twelfth Congress, Second Session, the last of which was signed by the President on January 15, 2013. It does not include laws of the One Hundred Thirteenth Congress, First Session, enacted between January 2, 2013, the date it convened, and January 15, 2013. By statutory authority this edition may be cited "U.S.C. 2012 ed." As adopted in 1926, the Code established prima facie the general and permanent laws of the United States. The underlying statutes reprinted in the Code remained in effect and controlled over the Code in case of any discrepancy. In 1947, Congress began enacting individual titles of the Code into positive law. When a title is enacted into positive law, the underlying statutes are repealed and the title then becomes legal evidence of the law. Currently, 26 of the 51 titles in the Code have been so enacted. These are identified in the table of titles near the beginning of each volume. The Law Revision Counsel of the House of Representatives continues to prepare legislation pursuant to 2 U.S.C. 285b to enact the remainder of the Code, on a title-by-title basis, into positive law. The 2012 edition of the Code was prepared and published under the supervision of Ralph V. Seep, Law Revision Counsel. Grateful acknowledgment is made of the contributions by all who helped in this work, particularly the staffs of the Office of the Law Revision Counsel and the Government Printing Office"--Preface.

"All or Nothing" is the inspiring autobiography of Wayne Kuschel. He was born in Ellsworth, Wisconsin, on December 6, 1923, during the early years of the Depression era. He was fortunate to attend good schools from the first through the eighth grades. Bernice Pace, his teacher for several grades, was the sole reason that he did so well in his educational endeavors. Wayne received his eighth-grade diploma in 1938. Instead of attending high school, he went to work on several farms, earning six dollars per month, with room and board. In the early part of 1940, he noticed a billboard advertising the US Army plastered with "see the world, adventure, etc." He was sworn into the army on June 12, 1940 at Fort Snelling, Minnesota-at the age of sixteen. After a successful career in the army, Wayne retired in 1960 with the rank of Major. He accepted a position with the US Army Aviation Systems Command in Saint Louis, Missouri, a short time after his retirement from the Air Force. He held several executive management positions with the agency and retired from there in 1979. His wife, Dorothy, died in January, 2002. Wayne currently lives in Henrietta, Texas.
