Government of Brazil three years ago sent a man to lecture in Europe as to the attractions of Brazil. That man lectured in Paris to an audience of 3,000 people entirely in Esperanto, and the Government published his lecture in that language. Here is a curious document.
This was issued by the anti-alcohol congress in Italy last year, and you will notice that Esperanto is used, and that it is recommended as the only remedy against the language trouble which entirely hampered the deliberations of this congress, as it does all international conventions of every kind. I will hand this to Mrs. Crafts, because she will be able to tell you more about it, since she was there. That is the commercial side of it, and these are only a very few samples of the actual and practical use being made of Esperanto in this one alone. I could produce, no doubt, a great many more such examples, but I can not carry them all about with me. Here are some Esperanto: Hearings before the Committee on Education is the record of court hearings about adding the Esperanto language to the United States school curriculum. Though Bartholdt's measure was not passed, the court transcript is a fascinating exploration of greater opportunities for American education. Excerpt: "I first introduced the bill in the shape of a request to the Committee on Education to investigate the subject; that is, as to the practicability and advisability of introducing Esperanto as an auxiliary language in the public schools..."

Review of the United Nations Charter

Richard Bartholdt (1855-1932) was a U. S. Representative from Missouri. He immigrated to the United States from Germany in April 1872 and settled in Brooklyn, New York. He learned the printing trade and became a newspaper writer and publisher. He moved to Missouri and settled in St. Louis in 1877. He served as member of the St. Louis Board of Education from 1888 to 1892, serving as president from 1890 to 1892. He was elected as a Republican to the Fifty-third and to the ten succeeding Congresses (1893-1915). He served as chairman of the Committee on Immigration and Naturalization, Committee on Levees and Improvements of the Mississippi River and Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds. He served as chairman of the Republican State convention at St. Joseph, Missouri, in 1896. Bartholdt was elected president of the Interparliamentary Union at the conference held in St. Louis in 1904, and for many years was president of the arbitration group in Congress, which he founded in 1903. Bartholdt was an esperantist, and in 1914 he proposed a resolution to have Esperanto taught in American schools.
